

The Black Arts Rapist

Set in a Jonesboro, Arkansas summer filled with rapes by an attacker who carves the thighs of his victims, the story follows forensic biologist Melena Carlson and Detective Wally Z Zurawski through their professional and personal interactions as their need for each other and catching the perpetrator form a strong bond. That bond is tested through Melena's forced leave of absence under suspicion of contaminating evidence, her subsequent brutal attack, and Z's evolving realization that his promotion to Detective and assignment to this case may have been part of the Rapist's master plan. Told in a dual first person narrative, the hunt for the Rapist key-codes the reader into the forensic laboratory and allows an intimate view into the intense, pressure-filled world of forensic workers and their partner police officers that serve and protect. The increasingly bold and vicious attacks by the Rapist are offset by the deepening relationship between Z and Melena to crescendo the story to its climactic ending.
