

I Guess Ill Keep My Day Job: Memoirs of a Sometime Singer

The first time I sang in a chorus, I was ten years old. Since that long ago time, Ive sung with church choirs, community choruses, and symphonic chorales. Ive sung in England, France, Germany, and Switzerland. Ive sung in various languages, none of which I speak. Through it all, Ive had the most wonderful experiences. For a brief time, I attempted to pursue a career in music. That misguided notion didnt last for long. I soon took my place behind a desk in the real world, but I never lost the desire to perform. These essays are my love letters to amateur musicians everywhere.
