

Memoir of the Baron de Kalb (Classic Reprint)

Gentlemen! The recent presentation to the Society of a fine portrait of the Baron de Kalb, offers a proper occasion for some notice of this distinguished officer of the Revolutionary War. And, it may not be the less appropriate, from his having been in command of the Maryland Line from 1776 until his death. John, Baron de Kalb, Baron de Kalsbriitt, c, was born in 1732, near Nuremberg, in the dominions of Prussia. His parents were Protestants, and of some note among the noblesse of the country. They had it therefore, in their power to give him a good education and to imbue him with those high moral qualities, which ever distinguished his future life. At an early age he entered the service of France, as a cadet, in a German regiment. He rose by degrees to the rank of General of Brigade, and in reward of his gallantry, was made a Knight of the Royal Order of Merit. Serving through the whole of the seven years war, and uniting a close study of the military art, with its practice in the field and in garrison, he became an accomplished soldier. The treaty of peace of 1763, put an end to his active duties and threw him into retirement. (Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and do not occur in the book.)
