

Life of Charles G. Finney

Originally Published in 1902 Some nineteen hundred years ago, as the greatest Book tells us, there was a man sent from God, whose name was John. He had a priestly line of ancestors, reaching back fifteen hundred years. His immediate parents, Zacharias and Elizabeth, were remarkably devout; for the record says, They were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless; and, furthermore, they were both filled with the Holy Ghost. An angel was sent to foretell the birth of their child, and to give to him the name of John. The angel also declared that the child too should be filled with the Holy Ghost from birth, and should be great in the sight of the Lord. It is a wonderful story, and yet is natural, after all, and quite the thing to be expected. Such parents ought to have had a remarkable child; for blood and ancestry will tell. But here is a more wonderful story still, illustrating in a more striking way Gods ample resources to produce great men. About eighteen hundred years later, August 29, 1792, in Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut, there was another man sent from God. No angel foretold his birth, nor named him; for he was called Charles Grandison Finney, after a character in a novel written by Richardson, with which his parents were better acquainted than with their Bible. But this man, also, was destined to be filled with the Holy Ghost, and to become the great preacher of righteousness.
